

Field Surface Water Hydrologist/Groundwater Hydrogeologist

TerranearPMC, LLC (TPMC) a growing, full service environmental and alternative energy consulting company seeks full time Field Surface Water Hydrologists and Groundwater Hydrogeologists for our Los Alamos, NM office. The TerranearPMC Los Alamos, NM office specializes in environmental monitoring and environmental remediation. Current active projects include groundwater and storm water monitoring, regional monitoring well drilling, and site remediation.

Education requirements:

Candidates with a BA/BS (minimum) in geology, watershed science, environmental science, or engineering and/or an advanced degree in hydrogeology or surface water hydrology are encouraged to apply.

Requirements:

TerranearPMC seeks to fill field hydrologist and hydrogeologist positions at our Los Alamos, New Mexico office. The primary duties will be to collect groundwater and surface water samples in support of the watershed monitoring program at Los Alamos National Laboratory. Additional duties include supporting the planning, coordination, and implementation of extensive watershed-wide groundwater sampling campaigns or the daily prioritization and implementation of surface water sampling, gage station operations, and erosion control inspections in response to storm events and permit compliance requirements. Groundwater is sampled from alluvial, intermediate and regional aquifer wells using a variety of dedicated and portable sampling systems. Field work requires operating and maintaining various field instruments such as water level recorders, data loggers, pressure transducers, and water quality probes. Surface water field work involves inspection and maintenance of erosion control measures and maintenance of storm water, surface water, and gage-station automated sampling equipment. Work is year round and 90% outdoors. Many locations are remote and require hiking or four-wheel drive access. There are multiple openings for this position including both full time and limited term seasonal appointments.

TPMC provides qualified candidates a robust and exciting work environment, a competitive compensation package, including healthcare, dental, life insurance, disability insurance, flexible spending accounts, tuition reimbursement, and a 401(k) plan with employer match.
